Theta Chi

Theta Chi . . . what does this mean? many different things to different people, pledging, "do the," "furnace wipe" pledges look at Theta Chi in the same light as the brothers, with a sense of unity and joy of accomplishment, whether it be sitting through another cup of coffee or scraping the glom off the floor after a party.

first term . . . faces . . . pledges . . . breaking them in. "what's a rat splat? who was Harris? what's so special about the McKinley Monument? pledges go along with the squad for an after dinner aperatif at the corner cuisine. watching the football game. playing the football game. brothers and pledges dropping in for a 2:30 a.m. visit at 519. Chimie's and Christmas decorations. shooting ham at Charlesgate. "we did it, TWENTY-SEVEN." riding the MBTA until seven-thirty on a Thursday night. lump, fog, muff, farb, klap, moob, the stalwart of ruthlessness breaking forth. what does it all mean? PAPRDSMFPSL on the board. oranges ad nauseum. s-league b-ball and hockey. roll your leg over.

second term . . . initiation . . . sometimes . . . return engagement of Brother V.C. water, water, water. another Cavern Squad learns from the "professionals." cigars on the mantle. banquets and "honor." apartment parties. Scholarship Improvement Trophy on the mantle. snow in the ward. ties, ties, ties. windjammer and keg. KEGS. new girls at impromptu mixers. "eight hours and three squares." snowballs at Chandler talent. water balloons on bridge tables. daiquiris on the roof. Frank and Primex. phones unanswered. sports cars in the back lot. grey MG in the dumpster. everyone in the sack at four. lunch at Miller's counter.

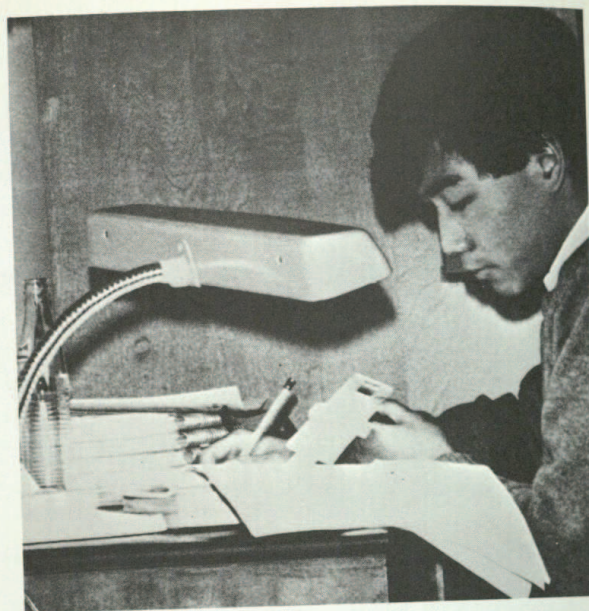

THETA CHI . . . Q. E. D.

A toast to a special Theta Chi.

Theta Delta Chi

. . . frustration, hard work, failure, success, fascination, boredom, laughter, sadness, joy . . . and love . . . Funny how a pledge can figure it out; he's right too, or is he? A couple of years ago someone said that a pledge is the real Theta Delt, that he is the only one who really cares or tries. Brothers get tired sooner or later, find some place to lie down, and go to sleep. A senior can get very tired: Rush Week, Hell Week, dinners, parties, pledge training, house meetings, committee meetings . . . yet these are not tiring by themselves, just bothersome. It's the unconcern, the superficiality, the stupidity; not the lack of understanding but the absence of an attempt to understand. We're all like this some of the time; we settle into our corner of the house and silently plod along toward nowhere, ignoring the existence of others, never mind their individuality. None of us can stand to be ignored for long. Some of us would rather be cursed than ignored: and there was trouble, then a lot of talk, talk about responsibility and authority, about people and emotions, about goals and needs and . . . a dirty situation at times, but a vital issue. Theta Delta Chi is alive only when the people living here are alive; not active, popular, intelligent, or competent, but alive; caring about each other enough to make some attempt to understand, to make even a small effort toward giving. Only then is there more than frustration, failure, and death. Only then is it not pathetic that a freshman was once stunned by a shock of joy during his initiation or that a senior believes that he has grown through the joy, sorrow, and love that he found here.

Theta Xi

BOSTON, Feb. 22, 1968 (UPI)—As the war increases in intensity, reliable sources here have reported that a guerilla unit is in operation at 66 Bay State Road. Led by Colonel Ron Bagley, this group of die-hard revolutionaries has vowed "to help General Washington end British imperialism" in the colonies.

It is reported that in the last year alone nine new fighters have joined the rebel band. The Band's method
